For me, the true highlight of the Inauguration period at Clark Atlanta University was the Student Tribute presented on Wednesday night, November 11. I have been talking about the incredible array of talent that we have for some time. To paraphrase one of the student presentations, "it just keeps coming..." Anyone present that evening has to know that the possibilities for Clark Atlanta University are endless.

But what came to me that evening was not just great talent. All presentations exemplified the heart and spirit of our student body in ways that make you different from all others. The messages and love received that evening were clear and meaningful to me. The affirmation and new energy that I received from students that evening will help to continue the work that we have begun here. Personally, it was an evening that I will never forget and I thank you for it.
