NOW AVAILABLE at RWWL: Volume II CAU’s Online Communications Journal

The Robert W. Woodruff Library (RWWL) of the Atlanta University Center and the Center for Excellence in Communication Arts at Clark Atlanta University (CAU) have collaborated to release Volume II of the annual scholarly journal Communication and Social Change.

Communication & Social Change is produced annually under the editorial direction of Dr. Cheryl Renee Gooch of the CAU Division of Communication Arts. This volume’s articles relate to the Center’s February 2008 conference theme, Exchanging Teaching Strategies and Professional Practices, and promote dialogue of innovative ways to apply theory to improve teaching and learning, according to Gooch.

The online journal is available through the Woodruff Library’s DigitalCommons institutional repository at: http://digitalcommons.auctr.edu/comsocchg/. First introduced in summer 2007, Communication & Social Change is one of two Atlanta University Center (AUC) journal publications produced in digital format using the repository. The other online journal, Communication Arts Forum, also is published through the CAU Center for Excellence in Communication Arts.

The DigitalCommons repository assists in the discovery of the collective body of research emanating from the AUC. By utilizing technology that facilitates the creation, publication and preservation of research in digital form, RWWL is able to promote, provide access to, and preserve the scholarship produced by the faculty and students of the AUC.

For more information on contributing to the RWWL institutional repository, contact RWWL Deputy Director Elizabeth G. McClenneny at 404-978-2101 or emclenneny@aucr.edu. Contact Dr. Cheryl Renee Gooch at 404-880-8290 or cgooch@cau.edu for more information on the Communication & Social Change and Communication Arts Forum online journals.
