

HAITIAN RELIEF EFFORTS ADVISORY

January 22, 2010

In response to Haiti's devastating human crisis, the result of a Jan. 12 earthquake and subsequent aftershocks on Jan. 20 and 22, Clark Atlanta University is heightening support for relief initiatives already underway.

To ensure an appropriately coordinated measure of support that meets immediate and long-term needs, and is undergirded by necessary internal controls, the following measures are being exacted to expedite our participation and, more important, our assistance to the People of Haiti.

HAITIAN RELIEF ADVISORY COMMITTEE EMPANELED

So that our efforts are unified and coordinated, Dr. Charles Moses will chair the University's Haitian Relief Efforts Advisory Committee, comprising faculty, staff, and students. Students will be represented on the Committee by SGA President Kevin Reeves. All campus activities executed on behalf of Haitian relief efforts must be coordinated and sanctioned by this Committee. For more information, contact Dr. Moses at 404-880-8999 or Mr. Reeves.

UNIVERSITY PARTICIPATION FOCUSED

To ensure that Clark Atlanta's initial support is directed to agencies that can optimally, immediately impact the increasingly dire situation, the University will channel its collective support to two agencies, both of which are "on the ground" and meeting critical needs: UNICEF and The Red Cross. Of course, Haiti's need for support will continue to increase long after the news media and global attention have waned. Therefore, our efforts will include additional agencies and partnerships in the longer term.

MATERIAL COLLECTIONS CONTINUE: FUNDS TO BE COLLECTED

The University's collection of material items, implemented following a Jan. 14 emergency University Town Meeting will continue. However, we know from myriad news reports that there is an urgent need for cash. Therefore, beginning Monday, January 25, the University will now accept monetary donations (and provide receipts) between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily at the locations below. Please note that given the emergent nature of this disaster, contributions will be directed to agencies responding to needs in the Haitian community and, therefore, cannot be included as part of your Clark Atlanta University giving record.
