ATLANTA MAYOR KASIM REED TO DELIVER CLARK ATLANTA UNIVERSITY’S 2010 COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS MAY 17

WHO: Atlanta Mayor Kasim Reed

WHAT: Will deliver the commencement address to about 800 graduates who will receive the bachelor’s, master’s and doctorate degrees.

WHEN: Monday, May 17, at 10 a.m.

WHERE: The Georgia World Congress Center in downtown Atlanta, Building A, Exhibit Hall A1.

BACKGROUND AND CORRESPONDING EVENTS:

- This is Mayor Reed’s first university commencement address since his inauguration on Jan. 4, 2010. Educated in the public schools of Atlanta, Reed earned his bachelor’s and law degrees from Howard University in Washington, D.C.

- On Sunday, May 16, the University will hold its baccalaureate service at 10 a.m. in the L. Epps Gymnasium in the Vivian W. Henderson Health and Physical Education Center, located on the corner of Fair and Vine Streets. Bishop Alfred L. Norris, interim president and dean of Gammon Theological Seminary of the Interdenominational Theological Center in Atlanta, will be the keynote speaker.

- This weekend, the Clark Atlanta University Alumni Association will celebrate its annual May Weekend activities for alumni at the Atlanta Marriott Downtown. Visit www.cauaa.org for details.