Clark Atlanta University
Department of Engineering
Adjunct Faculty Positions

Civil Engineering:

Will teach one or more undergraduate courses in the Civil Engineering concentration during the 2006 – 2007 academic year such as: Engineering Geology/Survey, Geotechnical Engineering and Laboratory, and Structural Analysis.

Candidate is required to have a Ph.D. in Civil Engineering or a Master’s degree with 18 hours of course work in Civil Engineering at the graduate level. Teaching experience with a Ph.D. preferred. Position available August 2006.

Electrical Engineering:

Will teach one or more undergraduate senior level communications courses in the electrical engineering concentration during the 2006 – 2007 academic year.

Candidate is required to have a Ph.D. in Electrical Engineering or a Master’s degree with 18 hours of course work in Electrical Engineering at the graduate level. Teaching experience with a Ph.D. preferred. Position available August 2006.

Chemical Engineering:

Will teach one or more undergraduate courses in the chemical engineering concentration during the 2006 – 2007 academic year. Courses such as Chemical Process Principles, Separation Processes and Plant Design and Economics will be offered

Candidate is required to have a Ph.D. in Chemical Engineering or a Master’s degree with 18 hours of course work in Chemical Engineering at the graduate level. Teaching experience with a Ph.D. preferred. Position available August 2006.

To apply, please send a letter of application, curriculum vita, and transcript to:

Dr. Lebone Moeti, Chair
Department of Engineering
Clark Atlanta University
223 James P. Brawley Drive, SW
Atlanta, GA 30314