Clark Atlanta University Hosts Political Forum With Actress Kerry Washington

Actress Kerry Washington (right) glows with excitement after being “crowned” by India Adams-Gregory, Miss CAU, after Washington’s presentation to hundreds of students on the importance of the vote and the political process. Aristide Collins, vice president for Institutional Advancement and University Relations at CAU, looks on. Washington reminded students that they are a part of the political process whether they choose to participate or not, that decisions about their everyday lives are rooted in politics. Also, she answered questions about her views on the presidential race.
