Ashlei Holmes-Wiseman
2011 – M.A., Early Childhood Education

“My experience in the School of Education at Clark Atlanta University was phenomenal and can never be duplicated. I attended a majority university for my Master's program, and while it was a worthwhile experience; it could not compare to the type of preparation I was afforded while at CAU. I have had the pleasure of being adequately prepared to walk into any classroom, whether it be an affluent or urban school, and possess the content knowledge and skill set it takes to help children learn. Because I work in an urban school full of students who come from challenging backgrounds, I am grateful for my professors at CAU who taught me to teach the whole child: mind, body, and spirit. By learning the technique of genuine connection, I am able to better reach my students and help them succeed overall.”
