Devin R. Jones
2012 – M.A., School Counseling

“The Counselor Education program and Clark Atlanta University provided me with the foundation and training that has catapulted me into the field of School Counseling. As one of the youngest male counselors and few African American male Counselors in the district I faced many challenges initially. From my training I felt immensely prepared and able to face every challenge. The knowledge, skills and dispositions gained through my matriculation at CAU is invaluable and I believe is one of the factors that set me apart from other applicants in consideration. Although something’s no one can truly be prepared for I believe the foundation provided by CAU-Counseling was one that supported me and allowed me to grow into the Counselor that I am today.”
