

School of Education Graduate

Nichole Gibbs
2012 – Ed. D., Educational Leadership

“The experiences I gained at Clark Atlanta University have served as the catalyst for my career trajectory in Higher Education. I learned the value of strategic planning, transformational leadership, and the great responsibility of becoming a change agent. Because of my education and the relationships established during my program, I was able to implement much of what I learned from both the faculty and staff in the School of Education in several of my roles in Education. I am forever grateful!”

Recent Accomplishment(s)

- Presented dissertation research at the inaugural Black Doctoral Network Conference held in Philadelphia, PA (October 3-5)
 - Appointed Vice Provost for Access and Enrollment at the University of the Virgin Islands (October 2013)
-