Finding a Passion for Research

What makes you curious? What would you like to learn more about? It can be anything. Use the following questions to brainstorm your interests and ideas.

What am I passionate/curious about?

What are my plans and goals for the future?

What classes have I taken that I really enjoyed?

What areas or subjects interest me?

When I am browsing the internet, what are the headlines that always catch my eye?

What are my hobbies?

What do I do in my spare time?

My research topic could be:

__________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________

Interested in getting started with Undergraduate Research? Bring this sheet to the Center for Undergraduate Research and Creativity today!

CURC | Thomas W. Cole Research Building, Suite 3037 | (404) 880-6770 | curc@cau.edu | www.cau.edu